

Soapbox race - Solar mobile

We organize a soapbox race with as little effort as possible. This can spur the teens and kids to build their own soapboxes.

Basic Idea / Goal:

Soapbox racing? Yes!

This is how contacts are made with village and neighbourhood residents and a relationship of trust can grow.

Duration / Period / Effort:

The race takes place on a Saturday.

Suitable for:

Teens and children in a village or neighbourhood

Materials Needed:

See under Design

Costs:

We ask from the participants a contribution of about Fr. 10.-, are still looking for some sponsors and run a festive economy at which a profit is generated. With 50 participants the income and expenses amount to approx. 3'000.- each.

Execution of the project:

With an organization team, the race day is prepared.

■ Responsible for race procedure

They organize traffic boards, straw bales, fencing of the race track, timing, starting ramp, public address system and people for the actual race day.

■ Responsible for Festwirtschaft

You organize benches, tables, food, drinks and staff for the sale. No alcohol will be served

■ Responsible for office work

Authority contacts, permit requests, registrations, advertising the event in the parish newsletter of the local newspaper and with posters/handouts, start list (there is a lot to do), evaluation and ranking, purchase of prizes/gifts

The race will be held in four categories (separated by age group). There will be a trial run for each participant as well as two applicable running times. Rules and regulations should be drawn up, including the penalty point system.

Important notes:

Bad weather variants: Either the race will be cancelled or a rescheduled date must be set in advance.

SOLARMOBILE

The race could be done with solar mobiles. A group of the Blue Cross in Baselbiet has built a solar mobile itself.

Source credits:

Content: Teenie working group, Margrit Hugentobler, Raymond Kleger and Hans Englin

copyright: BESJ Fällanden www.besj.ch

Title image: www.ejw-buch.de

Image:Juropa.net www.juropa.net