Sock Steal

This game is great for letting off steam.

Material

- No material is needed for this game.
- Each participant will need socks on their feet.

Gameplay

Everyone is on wool blankets or simply on a meadow (define / mark the playing field) with shoes off and socks on their feet. Now the goal is to steal as many socks as possible from the other feet. If it gets too intense, a concerned teammate can call "stop". At that moment the game stops. At the end everyone puts the socks back on the stolen ones.

Variants

- If it is really nice and warm in summer, the game can also take place in swimming trunks and socks on a staked out piece of meadow. The place is watered to before or already a damp place is selected. Within minutes, a muddy mess emerges from the participants. (Let the groups compete gender-separated.)
