Game with posts

- Number of players- 30

- Leaders - 8+1 to lead the game

- Age group- 9-12

- Terrain- field

1. Sheets are placed on the ground and either a foot or a hand is depicted on them. Each child has to be able to put their hand and foot on the corresponding sheet.

2. Different sized buckets are placed on the field for the children to put a table tennis ball into and they have to make a certain number of points (for example 400). Each bucket carries a different number of points.

3. The field is prepared as for a board game. The children have to go through all the squares and each square may have a challenge or a question. There may also simply be bonus points that are added to the team's final score.

4. The team is divided into 2 groups. One group gets a pair of ouzie stoppers for each, and the other group gets a slip of paper with a word on it for each as well. The goal is to have the kids who have the word explain with just gestures without talking to the kids who have earplugs.

5. The last post is a game of sea chess with people.

The winner is the team that gets the most points from all the posts.
