In this game, participants have to express sentences with images and vice versa. In many cases this is not so easy and requires creativity.

Material

- paper and pencil for each player

Development

- Everyone is seated at a table in a circle.
- Each person writes any phrase on his or her paper and gives it to the player on the right.
- That person tries to express in pictures what the sentence says. Fold the paper so that only the pictures can be seen and give it to the player on the right.
- That person tries to figure out the original sentence from the pictures, writes it under the pictures, folds the paper so that only his sentence can be seen and passes it to the neighbor on the right.
- That is repeated until the paper returns to the first player.
- Then the phrases are solved.
