Wasserbombenschlacht

Bei diesem lustigen Wurfspiel sollte man nicht wasserscheu sein.

Materials

- Balloons for water bombs (fill them so that the players have at least a small chance of catching them)

Procedure

- The participants are divided into two groups.
- Each group designates a player to start throwing. The two players line up at their respective starting lines.
- Next, one additional player is selected from each group. These players line up in front of the thrower from their own group, one meter away.
- Next to the throwers is a bucket filled with water balloons. The throwers each take one out and throw it to their teammate.
- The receiver must catch the water balloon and throw it back to the thrower.
- If they succeed without the water balloon bursting, the catcher may move one meter further back and the thrower tosses another water balloon to them.
- If the player fails to catch the water balloon or if it bursts in their hands, they are eliminated, and it is the next player’s turn. This player may start from the spot where the previous catcher was standing.
- The throwers are not eliminated if they fail to catch a water balloon.

- The teams take turns throwing.
- The group that has advanced the farthest by the end and still has the most players wins.
